

ABOUT FLEX PRICING

What is Flex Pricing?

- The Dallas Zoo is implementing Flex Pricing starting April 1, 2021.
- This new seasonal model for general admission ticket prices features set weekday and weekend ticket prices that will vary throughout the year based on seasonal attendance at the Zoo.
- In general, for busier periods with higher estimated attendance, prices will reflect the higher demand. For quieter attendance days, prices will be lower.
  - OF NOTE: The Dallas Zoo will not exceed the capacity limits currently in place to protect the health of our visitors, staff, and volunteers.
- This new price structure gives our guests the opportunity to plan a visit on the day that best accommodates their budget and schedule.
- We're pleased to continue to make the Dallas Zoo more accessible to varied audiences and to help expand and advance our mission of Engaging People & Saving Wildlife.

Why do prices change from weekdays to weekends?

- In general, for busier periods with higher estimated attendance, prices will reflect the higher demand. For quieter attendance days, prices will be lower.
- This new ticketing model will give guests the flexibility to plan a visit on a day that best accommodates their budget and schedule.
- Guests who have flexibility in when they plan to visit can pick a date and possibly save.

How is the cost of admission determined?

- In general, for busier periods with higher estimated attendance, prices will reflect the higher demand. For quieter attendance days, prices will be lower.
- General admission ticket prices will range from $8 per person during the Zoo's normal "Penguin Days" discounted period in January and February, up to $21 for adults / $16 for children and seniors on weekends during the busy spring and summer seasons.
- It is important to know that Flex Pricing does not represent an across-the-board price increase for Zoo guests. For seven months out of the year, ticket prices either remain the same or actually drop below current admission prices
- The Flex Pricing model gives us the flexibility to adjust our prices to account for seasonal traffic while also ensuring we remain one of the most affordable and accessible tickets in the Metroplex.

Are these the final prices or is it possible the price will go down at a later date?

- The listed weekday and weekend prices visible on the website will be the set price for that day and will stay consistent throughout each season.
- Flex Pricing at the Zoo will not vary by the hour, change daily, or be impacted by other factors.
- The prices do not change based on when guests purchase tickets – purchasing early does not yield a discount, but it does offer the best choice for dates and times for your visit.
- To see a calendar of available dates and time for your visit, please visit DallasZoo.com and click "Buy Tickets."

FLEX PRICING AND MEMBERSHIP
------------------------------------

Does Flex Pricing affect membership?

- Flex Pricing applies to our General Admission tickets. Since members still get free General Admission, the flexible admission costs throughout the year make a Dallas Zoo membership an even better deal!
- On average, Dallas Zoo membership pays for itself on just your second visit.
- Members also receive discounted admission for all extra guests not covered by their membership. Prices for these discounted tickets will adjust along with flex pricing.

Did membership prices go up when you started Flex Pricing?

- We did make some updates to our membership levels and benefits in March, but those changes were not tied to Flex Pricing.
- We only altered the pricing on two member levels at that time; the majority of the changes related to making member admissions more flexible than ever and refreshing the ride, attraction, animal feeding, and special exhibit benefits.

Can I apply my admission tickets to a membership?

- Yes! You can apply as many admission tickets toward the price of your membership as would have been covered by the level of membership you're purchasing.
- To do so, please visit the Membership Booth, or contact the Membership Team at Members@DallasZoo.com, or call 469.554.7400 within seven days of your visit.
